NEWS FROM THE ARMY.

(Commercial's Brecial Correspondent.)

FARRAX C. H. Va, July 18th, 10 A. M.

Our grand army is in full march on Manassas Junction, which is twelve miles beyond Fairfax. It is scattered all along the road from Spring field to this place and beyond in immense strength. No fight yet shown by the enemy at any point, nor is it believed they will make a stand.

Col. Burnside's command is four thousand strong, here.

Gen. McDowell is with the Reserve Divisions, fifteen thousand strong at Centerville, seven miles from bere and fire miles from Manassas. I have just passed along all the line from McDowell's needquarters to Fairfax, to find conveyance for this dispatch to Washington. General McDowell will return here to-night with his staff. The whole body of troops is not magnificent spirits, and eagerly asking along the line, "where care the rebols?"

The inhabitants of Fairfax have been shamefully robbed and abused by the rebel troops. Many bouses have been completely gutted.

The Federal forces then took their position on a hill. Two rifled cannon were planted in front, supported by Capt. Brackett's Company D. 24 Cavairy, with a line of infantry, composed of the 2d Regiment of Michigan, and the 12th Regiment of New York in the rear. A steady fire was kept up on both sides in this position. The rebels had two batteries of eight pieces in a position commanding the road. They in a position commanding the road. They used their guns well. They did not reply to our return hire for half an hour, during which ime they were receiving large reinforcements. While we were again advancing, we were met by a raking fice. Our guns were again put de position and we poured grape and canvister among the enemy till the supply was exhausted. Capt. Ayres, of the artillery, lost one man killed and three wounded, and several of his pieces were disabled. The New York 19th suffered most, and the Massachusetts 1st next. Total loss on our side is estimated at 30 killed

The average number of each Wednesday market last year was 3,461 head, while the number to day being 3,447, shows 44 head less than the average, and 356 head less than this day wash.

Wednesday, July 17.—There was a little rally in the cool of the evening yesterday, principally by the wholesale butchers, who took off so many of the cattle that owners feit more confidence this morning that all the stock could be sold at the full rates of the opening; and we think rough stock was sold at rather better rates, and all closed out before night upon somewhat better terms at than owners had to whomit to last Wednesday. We believe that not over 500 head, and perhaps not over 400 head, were on sale this morning; and as the weather is cool for the season, and the total receipts of the week count 500 head less than the previous week, we do not anticipate finding any size stock in the yards next week, a toless it is one or two fittle lots of rather extra quality, which owners will not sell at market prices. There is one lot of this description, vary fine Ohio Durham Helf ext, which womers will not sell at market prices. can pay over 3 cents a pound for the best ballocks at the West under present circumstances.

There is another, lot of very nice Kentucky Durhams in the yards, a part of which will be left over; the owner vainly trying to effect a sale without the aid of a broker; and is unable to get offers for more than half of his lot that he is willing to accept. We understand that he was offered 800 a head in fibrillot, where they weighed about 14½ owt. each. We don't see how he can ever get that mosey and expenses out of them here without an improvement in the market.

The business to day finally winds up very dull—the country butchers getting the last of the droves, and some of the ballocks, too, as good as the top, at very low figures—less than 8c. It has become a fixed fact that bargains can always be had here of late on Wednerday afternoon.
